DKA patient

..they have to inject themselves at least twice a day! because they suffer from Diabetes Mellitus.

We at the National Institute of Child Health, Karachi, are conducting a diabetic clinic for the last seven years. Presently we have more than 500 diabetic children who are provided treatment free of charge. Proper management of these children not only requires insulin injections but also monitoring of blood sugar (glucometer, strips and syringes are also provided) and assessment of long term complications.

If properly managed these children have a normal life expectancy and they can be an active part of society.

Because of ever growing demand on existing resources we are looking for your support for these children.
